The reason that some of my friends from school are here today is because of a very special man. A man some call a legend, some call a human, and some terrible people even call a fool. But to me, he is not any of those things. To me, he is a life-changer. A long time ago, he inspired children all around the world...and still does today. Doctor Martin Luther King Jr. has changed the world. He empowered people to chase their dreams through peaceful protests and when he gave his "I Have a Dream" speech.

My dream is that littering and pollution stops so our earth will continue to be safe. I could help out by picking up any trash I see and throwing it away. My other dream is that Covid-19 goes away. I can help by wearing a mask, social distancing, and getting the vaccine.

When MLK worked so hard to achieve his dream, helping black people be treated with equality and fairness, he inspired other people to dream as well. I believe that what MLK did was very important because he stood up for what he believed in. I have a dream and so should everyone.
