ANIMAL RIGHTS

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr fought for human rights. He fought for equality, and for black people to have the same rights as white people. Because of him all people can go to the same schools, eat at the same restaurants and even more. I want to help animals. So many bad people hunt endangered species, such as elephants and rhinos. I have a dream that one day animals will be able to live in peace without humans hunting them to extinction. Elephants get hunted for ivory in their tusks. Poachers go out illegally and hunt endangered animals. Pollution is happening to animal habitats. Humans think it's ok to just throw trash out the window. Or leave it somewhere. But animals think it's something that they can eat. So they eat it and they die. Animals in the ocean eat plastic and die. Whales get beached because of this. There is an island of trash three TIMES bigger than France. I have a dream that Humans will understand that throwing trash out into the wild is NOT ok. Do you know what deforestation is? Deforestation happens everywhere. Humans are cutting down trees and entire forests where animals live. Animals are forced out of their own homes because of this. Stop and think. How would YOU feel if someone came and forced you out of your own home? Animals die because they get forced out of their habitats and into environments where they can't survive. Animals have adaptations that help them survive in their ecosystems. Their adaptations won't help them in different places. I have a dream that in the future deforestation will stop and animals won't be forced out of their homes.

We can't stop these things that are happening to animals. But we can help slow these things. We can stop pollution by recycling plastic and throwing trash in the trash. If you know someone who hunts illegally, make them stop. Lots of animals die because of us. So, just like Dr. Martin Luthor King Jr. did for human rights; I'm fighting for animal rights. I have a dream where animals can roam freely without worrying that their home will be destroyed and won't get hunted to extinction. I hope you will protect animals too.
